

You would be absolutely hated if you shut down the list. How would you like it if I would pick my telephone up and call you and see how you like nonsense calls all the time. Calls in dinner, calls all day, and they let it ring like once, so by the time i get to the phone they hang up. And then they just call the next and do the same thing, until I feel like smashing my phone thru my window. Many people feel the same way. Maybe if the idiots had a sensible name on the caller id, people would know who is calling. They might just throw their phone out the window anyways. STOP THE NONSENSE! Keep the list.